

Helmet Law Said Invalid

By RALPH JONES
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Judge Frank Hayes in Circuit Court here today ruled unconstitutional the Missouri law requiring motorcycle drivers and their passengers to wear safety helmets.

The ruling was made in the case of the State of Missouri versus William Thomas Darrah, 1020 South Ohio. Darrah was charged with not wearing the protective helmet while riding his motorcycle on public highways on Aug. 12, in violation of the state law.

James T. Buckley, attorney for Darrah, filed the case in Magistrate Court as a matter of course, then requested an immediate change of venue to Circuit Court. The request was granted and Buckley filed for dismissal on the grounds that the law is a violation of the Constitution in that it denies the defendant his freedom of choice in whether or not to wear the approved headgear.

Soon afterward, a representative from the state attorney general's office, Thomas Nowotny, Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney Henry Keeler and Buckley conducted oral arguments before Judge Hayes. After this hearing the judge took the case under advisement and Monday issued his opinion.

In his opinion Judge Hayes indicated the law bears no relation to the public health and safety or to the general welfare. It is an attempt, the judge indicated, by the Legislature to protect the individual from his own acts, which in no way relates to public safety. Such individual action does not come under the police powers of the state, the judge indicated.

Buckley, in his presentation, contended that the law is in violation of the 14th Amendment of the United States, and the Missouri Constitution, which assures individuals freedom of choice. The law does not allow such freedom of choice, Buckley contended, in this case whether or not to wear the helmet.

The state maintained the law is valid, pointing out that the state requires automobile manufacturers to install seat belts in their cars. The judge in his opinion ruled that the seat belt law, even though valid, does not require the driver or passengers to wear the belts.

The judge pointed out that Michigan, Louisiana and the state of Washington have ruled the helmet law is unconstitutional. New York has upheld its helmet law.

In conclusion Judge Hayes ruled that Section 302.020 of the state law is in violation of the constitutional provisions, thus is void. The defendant was found innocent and discharged.

Buckley said that to his knowledge this is the first time the state's motorcycle helmet law has been contested.

The attorney general or the prosecuting attorney now can appeal the finding to the State Supreme Court, if they so desire.

Even-Handed Policy Needed in Mid-East

JERUSALEM (AP) — For mer Gov. William W. Scranton, President-elect Richard M. Nixon's fact-finding envoy, arrived in Israel today on the last leg of his Middle East tour. He said it "is important U.S. policy become more even handed" in the area.

"The United States must take into consideration the feelings of all persons and countries in the Middle East and not necessarily one country over another," Scranton told newsmen after he crossed the Jordan River. He came from Amman, the Jordanian capital.

Holding a news conference on a muddy road leading from the Allenby Bridge, Scranton said that in Cairo he had received no indication of what kind of solution to the Middle East situation the Egyptians want.

and antique store. The department was called to another fire while at the scene.

Busy Sunday For Firemen

Two fires in quick succession kept Sedalia firemen busy between 8 and 9 p.m. Sunday.

The first call was to 112 East Main, where Sedalia Police Patrolman Jim Lawson reported a used furniture and antique shop was on fire. This report was at 7:51 p.m.

When firemen arrived they found the back of the shop ablaze. After some 20 minutes the fire was brought under control.

Both fire companies were at the fire on Main when the radios on the trucks blared out the information that a house was on fire at 409 North Heard. One truck went to this fire and found an overheated stove had set fire to the ceiling and wall. This was occupied by Albert L. Anderson. Damage was estimated at $100.

At the first fire damage was estimated at $1,000. The owner of the building Hugh Buchanan, Kansas City, said there was considerable smoke and water damage to the front part of the building. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Fire Chief Emmett Vaught said Monday morning the prompt use of the police radio by Lawson brought the firemen much sooner than if the call had been made by telephone, thus the firemen arrived in time to prevent the fire from spreading to the front of the building.

Suspension Of MMCAC Employee

Hardy Cobb, director of Mid-Missouri Community Action Corp., today announced that Charles Estill, program director for the Neighborhood Youth Corps, has been suspended, on orders from Board Chairman Richard Adams, Warrensburg.

Cobb said he received notification to make the suspension Monday morning, pending final action by the board of directors.

Cobb said Estill had allegedly collected transportation fees from NYC enrollees this past summer. He said Estill had transported enrollees from Sedalia to work sites at Whiteman AFB for eight weeks, and was reimbursed from federal funds for the transportation costs.

Benny Bell, YVC counselor, has been appointed acting director of the NYC program. Cobb said, Cobb said Estill would have the right of appeal to the county board, but would remain in a non-pay status until the incident is resolved.

Cobb said the action has been reported to the Regional Office, U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Work Training Programs, Kansas City.

City Mourns Ruling On 'Obscene' Film

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Today was a proclaimed day of mourning in Mobile as a protest by city officials against an Alabama Supreme Court ruling that the controversial film "The Fox" could be shown here.

Flags were flown at half-staff and black ribbon adorned the doors of City Hall.

Mayor Lambert C. Mims said the court's ruling was another slap at local government in that it nullified a city ordinance against the showing of obscene movies.

"The Fox" portrays a lesbian relationship.

Open War of Words Against Ky in Paris

PARIS (AP) — A spokesman for North Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks lashed at South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky today, calling him "a puppet, a servant of the United States and a devotee of Hitler."

It was a forerunner of many charges and countercharges expected as the Vietnamese rivals maneuver toward the enlarged peace talks.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese teams set up a strategy sessions later in the day with Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Cyrus R. Vance on the American side and Pham Dang Lam and Bui Diem, the ambassador to Washington, on Saigon's side.

The North Vietnamese blast at Ky came from Hanoi delegation spokesman Bui Nhan and referred to past remarks Ky had made about Hitler in South Vietnam.

Ky denied at the time that he was voicing any admiration for the former Nazi dictator. And in the course of his exuberant arrival here Sunday the jauntier former combat pilot repeatedly stressed he was no puppet of Uncle Sam.

The opening date of the expanded peace talks is still in doubt pending the outcome of another diplomatic dialogue between the United States and North Vietnam.

The shape of the table for the negotiations—of symbolic importance to the South Vietnamese and their rivals, the National Liberation Front—remained at issue after a week of private U.S.-North Vietnamese exchanges had thrashed out other details for the first meeting of the delegations.

The Communists demand a square table to match their argument that this will be a four-sided conference in which the Viet Cong's NLF delegation has separate, equal status with the other three.

Ky re-emphasized on his arrival the Saigon-Washington view of the parley as two-sided—between the allies and the Communists. He refused to even speak of the NLF, which his government regards as an outlaw group. So the United States has proposed two long tables facing each other.

U.S. diplomats said they were keeping in touch with the North Vietnamese in hopes of working out an agreement.

The conference already has been held up five weeks beyond the opening date envisioned in President Johnson's Oct. 31 bomb-halt package. The first delay resulted from Saigon's boycott of the talks.

"I have come with all my good will to search for peace," Ky told a banner-waving crowd of some 250 greeters at Orly Airport from the Vietnamese community in Paris, plus officials and newsmen.

"I have come with the hope that the aggression from North

Seizures Fatal To Two Brothers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two elderly brothers died of heart attacks at their separate homes Sunday.

Arthur F. Bergschneider, 77, succumbed first as he was leaving his house.

Irvin F. Bergschneider, 71, died soon after being notified of his brother's death.

Vietnam will soon be brought to an end," he said.

"We will not demand that those on the other side surrender... I don't expect that we will surrender."

The 38-year-old former combat pilot did more talking at the airport after he conferred for an hour with Harriman and his deputy, Cyrus R. Vance. But he offered no specifics on just what South Vietnam would propose at the conference.

He said he was "not quite" satisfied with the way negotiations have gone so far, and he hinted he might come up with a new proposal after he studies the situation for a few days.

Police precautions on a scale matching those usually given President Charles de Gaulle kept tight security around the airport. And the protocol-conscious French squelched South Vietnamese plans for a rally much larger than that allowed when the NLF delegation arrived last month.

U.S. Ships Navigate Bosphorus

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Two destroyers of the U.S. 6th Fleet sailed through the Bosphorus today for a five-day cruise along Turkey's Black Sea Coast. The Russians called the American naval visit to their southern doorstep a provocation, a threat to peace and Soviet security, and a violation of the 1936 Montreux Convention.

The 3,500-ton Dyess led the way through the narrow strait between the Sea of Marmara and the Black Sea. Her sister ship the Turner followed about an hour later.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia reported Sunday that its correspondent had seen the two destroyers pass through the Bosphorus and slip "like thieves" into the landlocked Black Sea. But the ships anchored in the Sea of Marmara for the night, abiding by the provision of the Montreux Convention that bars transit of the strait after nightfall.

Izvestia claimed that the ships' passage through the Bosphorus violated the Montreux Convention regulating use of the strait because the two destroyers were equipped with missiles capable of delivering nuclear weapons and because the convention bars ships of any nation at war.

Turkish and American officials rejected the Soviet charges and said the ships were making a routine visit that was in conformity with the convention.

The Turkish Foreign Ministry said the Russians "had some complaints, but Turkey rejected them since the passage is entirely in conformity with the Montreux Convention." The convention allows non-Black Sea powers to send "light surface vessels" of under 30,000 tons into the Black Sea.

Turkish newspapers viewed the destroyers' visit as a demonstration of American naval strength occasioned by the steady Soviet naval buildup in the Mediterranean during the past year. The Russians now have about 60 warships in the Mediterranean, a sea where previously the U.S. 6th Fleet was unchallenged.

Marine Operation Costly For Enemy

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Marines closed out their massive cordon operation south of Da Nang today with another flurry of stiff bunker fighting. At least 862 North Vietnamese soldiers were claimed killed in the 20-day campaign.

Some field reports were still missing, and some senior officers estimated the total enemy losses may approach 1,000 when the final count is made. A hundred North Vietnamese troops were taken prisoner.

Marine casualties for the entire operation, called Meade River, were 95 killed and 504 wounded. Nearly half of the U.S. and enemy casualties were taken in the last five days as the Leathernecks' encirclement shrank to less than a square mile.

Staff officers said preliminary intelligence indicated that major portions of four battalions of the North Vietnamese Army's 38th Regiment had been trapped in the cordon following an enemy attack on the district town of Dien Ban, 15 miles south of Da Nang.

As the Marines were being pulled out for operations elsewhere, there was still light sniper fire and some mortaring from their rear, showing that swept territory had already been infiltrated again by at least token enemy forces.

The cordon operation was the largest ever conducted by the Marines in Vietnam and their most successful.

It began Nov. 20 within nearly 7,000 U.S. and Korean Marines and Vietnamese infantrymen placed in position in half a day, mainly by helicopter. The area inside the cordon at the outset was approximately 50 square miles.

Government officials evacuated 2,600 peasants and later returned them to their homes after screening them in an effort to trap Viet Cong political officials and agents. Some 73 of these were seized.

The final fighting Sunday and today involved five Marine companies and Vietnamese in 10 armored personnel carriers mopping up enemy soldiers dug into bunkers at the edge of a muddy river. A spokesman said one Marine company had worked into the bunkers before being hit with heavy enemy fire Sunday night. In the darkness, groups of three and four North Vietnamese probed along the Leathernecks lines trying to escape.

This morning, the Marines attacked again, dropping grenades into bunkers while the Vietnamese armored troops

Poverty Office Defends Actions

By PETER F. DANIELS
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Government officials interested in the internal operations of Mid-Missouri Community Action Corp., wouldn't have to be qualified accountants to obtain an understanding of what's going on there, but they would have to donate a bit of their time.

When the Pettis County board of MMCAC recently voiced complaints against MMCAC, the agency replied — admittedly in the "heat of anger" in some instances.

But the charges were answered and MMCAC apparently can back up what it says through books which have been approved by a certified public accountant.

The allegation that MMCAC ran out of money between March 1, 1968, and May 1, but still continued to spend funds, was denied by the agency. And so was a claim which asserted that MMCAC's budget for 1968 was $79,000 and that the local payroll alone exceeded that amount.

According to MMCAC's books, the budget for the 1968 program year, which runs from March 1, 1968, through Feb. 28, 1969, actually totaled $131,645. Approved payroll funds, according to MMCAC, totaled $64,684 for the same period.

All of these figures are current, and each audit of MMCAC's financial condition and operation has given the organization a virtual pat on the back.

The county board also stated in its complaints that "in the fall of 1967 between $900 and possibly up to $2,000 was spent for camera equipment, for what possible reason is beyond our best judgment."

MMCAC replied that it had, in fact, spent $1,175.88 for cameras, slide projectors, movie projectors and film. MMCAC justified the expenditures since, as its report stated, they were necessary to "build the visual aids division of Head Start, providing films and slide stories for learning efficiency."

The local agency also said it had the full approval of its regional office for the expenditures.

The next allegation in the list of 19 stated that "... (Hardy) Cobb got his way to put the entire staff except Cobb on Head Start payrolls, as well as not qualified teachers..."

Cobb said the majority of the MMCAC staff here has payrolls funded only for nine and half or eight and a half months. With the regional office's approval, these people are transferred to positions of responsibility in the Head Start program and are paid out of the Head Start budget.

There is nothing in this procedure that is against OEO rules, Cobb reported. The shift is allowed because without it, some MMCAC staff personnel would be without work part of each year.

And, according to Cobb, that would cause all other projects to suffer since the switch to Head Start is primarily one involving payrolls, and not exclusive activity in Head Start at the expense of other programs.

Age No Indicator For Experience

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to say a word or two to the young girl who propositioned her doctor because she wanted to learn about sex from an older man who "knows what he is doing." I was disappointed in you for not setting her straight. Surely you know that simply because a man is older doesn't mean he knows what he is doing. My husband is 52. We have been married 30 years. If he lives to be 100 he won't understand a woman's emotional needs or what role sex should play in married life. Don't tell me it's my fault for not teaching him. Did you ever try to teach table manners to a hog? Same thing. Romantic love is more than technique. It is sensitivity, consideration, a desire to give as well as to receive. One might assume that a man who has been married 30 years would benefit from 30 years of experience. Not true. He may have had the same experience 3,000 times. I think you ought to eat your words Ann Landers. — PHOENIX

Dear Phoenix: Gulp. Gulp.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to comment on the letter about Agatha — the kooky sister-in-law who carried a gun in her purse and liked to scare people with it "for laughs." The question is, how long are people going to laugh about the easy availability of guns in this country?

The current estimate of guns now in the hands of the public ranges anywhere from 100 million to 300 million, depending on who is doing the estimating.

Very few states and municipalities require that a person have a license both to purchase and to possess a gun. Most states permit people to have pistols without a license. In some states one may have a pistol so long as he carries it openly.

Since 1900 more than 800,000 Americans have been killed by firearms, which is more than died in all our wars, going back to the Revolution. Crazy, isn't it? What can the average citizen do to get some sane and meaningful gun laws passed? — OUTRAGED

Dear Outraged: That's a good question and one for which there seems to be no easy answer. The last Congress passed some gun legislation that was an improvement over the existing laws, but one gets the impression that Congress threw the angry constituents the smallest possible bone in an attempt to quiet them for a while.

I suggest that we the people keep hammering away at Washington and our State and local representatives. Let them know we are not going to rest until we get sensible gun laws. For the zillionth time I repeat — we are not trying to restrict the lawful and legitimate activities of sportsmen and gun collectors; we simply want to make it illegal for anyone with the price of a gun to walk in and buy one — no questions asked.

Move Great Apes To Study Habits

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — It will be an unusual moving day for three Atlanta families Tuesday.

Three orangutan families are to be lodged in new quarters at the Grant Park Zoo after being transferred from Emory University's Yerkes Regional Primate Research Center.

"We want to see how three or four mothers and their babies will interact socially while living together as a community," said John Roth, zoo director.

Many kinds of birds make their home in downtown New York City. A wildlife enthusiast counted 21 species in a small park just steps from bustling Times Square.

The monkey quarters at Emory were too small for the test, he explained. It is the first time the zoo has put any of these rarest of great apes on public display.

Persistence Pays Off For Marine

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Younger men than Carl E. Herring join the U.S. Marines. But few are so persistent.

After 11 years and four tries he graduates from boot camp today.

"I never dreamed of any other life," says Herring, now 28, who wants to be a drill instructor.

In Temple, Tex., Herring quit school after the sixth grade at 10 years old and worked in a variety store, then in a Dallas cafe until his 17th birthday arrived and he could enlist.

His determination started to get a real test. On a Marine obstacle course Herring broke his knee and was sent home with a medical discharge. He paid for corrective surgery, then flooded the Corps with letters asking for a medical waiver to get back in.

The Marines said yes, on condition Herring pass his physical requirements. In June he re-enlisted. He broke his arm July 7. On July 28, the day the cast came off, he was washed out of boot camp again, a victim of meningitis.

After three weeks in a hospital, he was back beginning boot camp the fourth time.

"The training is getting easier over the years — a little too easy, I think," says Herring.

The leader of his 70-man platoon, Staff Sgt. Howard Garcia, was a recruit along with Herring in the same company at the San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot in 1957.

Both Garcia and 1st Lt. Michael F. Valdez, commander of the 1st Battalion, say Herring is "a good man, a good marine."

Since his first enlistment Herring has married and is the father of two girls.

In Albuquerque, N.M., his wife Mitsy, 24, lives with her parents and attends beauty school. Does she understand why Herring fights so doggedly to become a Leatherneck? Carl said, "Maybe not, but she wants me to do what I want."

And what Carl Herring wants is to be a Marine.

ETHICS

By Carl J. Hamilton, D.C.

I would like to talk to you today about "Ethics."

As I stated last week, I have been told by members of the healing arts that I am being "unethical" in writing these articles each week because it is advertising and members of the healing arts just do not advertise. This line of reasoning is upsetting to say the least because none of us like to alienate ourselves from our brothers in any field of endeavor.

Just to set the record straight let us define the word "Ethics." Ethics is defined as "the discipline dealing with what is good and bad and moral duty and obligation."

Now let's break the definition down. Take the first part that says, "the discipline dealing with what is good and bad —" It is my belief that any method of bringing to people's attention anything that might be of value to relieve them of pain and discomfort is good.

Many, many people do not realize that Chiropractic has helped so many different conditions that no other method of healing could help. Many people do not realize that it is a natural way to health by eliminating the cause of their health problem and thereby letting the body heal itself. Many people just do not know these things and will not know them unless someone tells them.

This brings up the word "bad" in the definition. I think it is "bad" to let people suffer from some condition just because it is "unethical" to tell them to see a Doctor of Chiropractic. What should we do? Should we say, "I'm sorry you don't feel good," and let it go at that? Isn't it much better to practice the Golden Rule, tell them about Chiropractic, and then let each person make up their own mind as to what course of action they want to take.

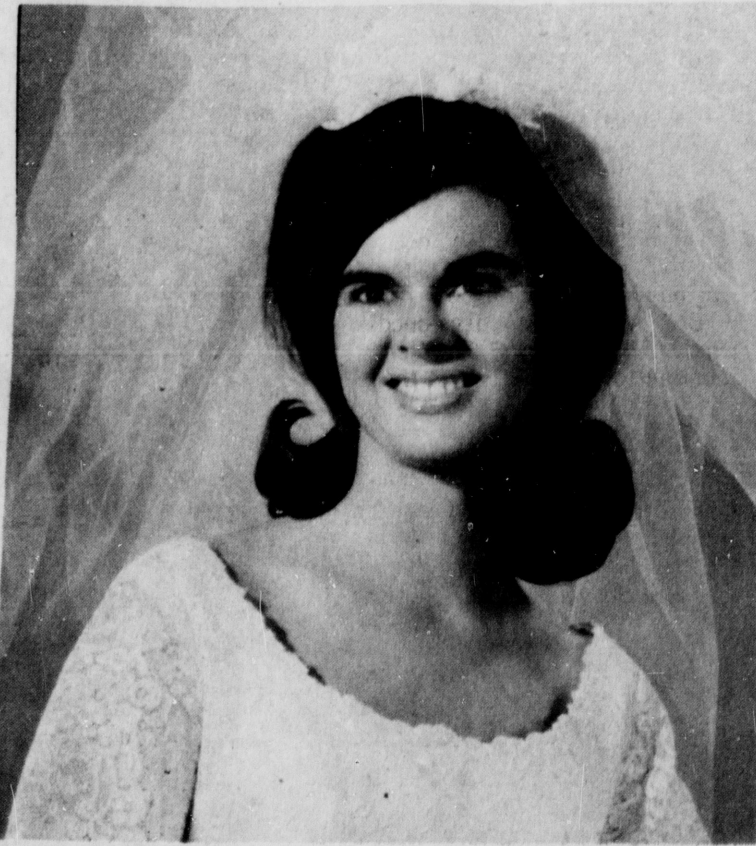

That part of the definition which says — "with moral duty and obligation." Isn't it our moral duty and obligation to inform people that there might be some hope for them? Isn't it our duty to give people the facts?

Now please don't misunderstand me. I do not mean that Chiropractic is a "cure-all" no more than any other method of healing. After all there was only one who could cure everything and He lived over 2000 years ago.

In conclusion let me ask you a question, "Which is better: to go along in the dark not knowing there might be a better way or to be informed about Chiropractic, then making up your own mind as to what you want to do about your health problem?" After all, you're the one who is in ill health.

Wed in November Ceremony

Mrs. Ronald H. Welch

KNOB NOSTER — Col. and Mrs. Neill T. Patterson, formerly of Whiteman Air Force Base, now stationed at Manchester, Tenn., have announced the November marriage of their daughter, Nancy Jean, to Ronald H. Welch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Welch of Kansas City. The double-ring ceremony was held at the Colonial Presbyterian Church in Kansas City with the Rev. David Milton officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white crepe gown with an Alencon lace empire bodice and three-quarter length puff sleeves. Securing her floor length veil was a crown of lace and organza petals scattered with seed pearls.

Mrs. Robert Dennis of Kansas City was matron of honor; Miss Velma Patterson, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, and Sonja Patterson, sister of the bride, attended as junior bridesmaid.

Lee Allison was best man, with Dave Suddeth and Gary Welch, brother of the groom, as groomsmen. Rick Welch, brother of the groom, and Leon Patterson, brother of the bride, were candlelighters.

The couple will live in Denver, Colo.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Welch are graduates of Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg. Mrs. Welch is a 1963 graduate of the Knob Noster High School.

Dreaded Initials Return To Russia's Officialdom

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
(AP) Special Correspondent

The initials "MVD" which long inspired Russian dread are back again.

The reappearance can mean a number of things: an echo of shockwaves from what happened in Czechoslovakia, a growing problem with crime and disorder, and perhaps a cautious jockeying for position among the dominant group in the Kremlin.

The letters stand for the Russian words "Ministerstvo

Safety Tips For Yule Trees

Missourians have a wide variety of trees to choose from in selecting their Christmas tree — Scotch pine, jack pine, or red cedar grown locally; Scotch pine from Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, or Wisconsin; Balsam fir from Canada; or Douglas fir from the northwestern part of the U.S.

In choosing a tree, the buyer wants one that is fresh, attractively shaped, has the proper size and is safe.

How do you get a fresh tree? J.M. Nichols, professor of forestry at the University of Missouri-Columbia, says locally grown trees are not cut until late November at the earliest. Some out of state trees are cut in October.

For a fresh, attractive, and safe tree, Nichols suggested buying a tree in early December when the selection is best, cut one-half inch off the stump, put it in a bucket of water and keep it in a cool, shaded place until bringing it into the home.

For the best fire prevention, he suggests using a stand which holds water and keep the tree watered at all times. An average sized tree may "drink" a quart of water a day in the home.

No tree should be kept in the house for over two weeks, even if watered.

Red cedar, he cautioned, dries out quickly and is the most flammable. Freshly-cut Scotch and Jack Pine will hold up the longest.

Trees can be "fire-proofed" for up to five days by saturating them with a mixture of eight ounces of borax and four ounces of boric acid in a gallon of lukewarm water. But, Nichols says, the best fire-proofing is to keep the tree in water.

Other safety tips offered by the forester include locating the tree in the home or apartment so it does not interfere with exits; check wiring to make sure it is in good condition; do not burn the lights on the tree when no one is home; and do not place close to fireplace, heat outlet, draperies or other flammable furnishings.

Vnutrennikh De., Ministerstvo of Internal Affairs. Under the notorious Lavrenty P. Beria, the MVD operated a vast secret police net. Beria was executed 15 years ago in the power struggle which followed Stalin's death.

The MVD structure was dismantled, and the initials were forgotten. Security police came under organs with less power.

In mid-1966 Moscow suddenly announced formation of an all-Union "Ministry for the Protection of Public Order," called MOOP for its Russian initials. It was placed under Col. Gen. Nikolai Shchelokov, 58, long a colleague of the present party chief, Leonid Brezhnev, as a political officer in the army.

Now Pravda and Izvestia have announced that MOOP henceforth will be the "Ministry of Internal Affairs," that the militia forces under it will be beefed up and that it will carry on a determined drive to stamp out crime and "strengthen public order."

The leadership long had conceded it has a big crime problem. This embarrasses the Communist party. Doctrine insists that crime is only a survival of capitalism and must disappear under "socialism."

One persistent problem has been the steady rise of theft and embezzlement of "Socialist property." Another has been hooliganism among youth, a term which can mean anything from drunkenness and rioting to rape and murder.

But there was more to it than that. One of the most worrisome of "crimes against the state" has involved "anti-Soviet literature." Police have been frustrated by the smuggling of contraband manuscripts abroad.

The authorities also have been baffled by the reaction of shock and dissent among intellectuals after the occupation of Czechoslovakia. It led to open defiance in the form of protests and demonstrations, for which a number of intellectuals are in prison or in exile.

These events seemed to accentuate an existing spirit of apathy among young people. Enrollment in the Young Communist League has been dropping steadily. More painful, the Soviet press has revealed that at least 20 per cent of offenders arrested for crimes were members of the Young Communist League, which was designed to be an insurance against such things.

Whatever the meaning of the changeover, it probably has caused some shudders in Russia, particularly among intellectuals who remember the old MVD. It could signify just one more evidence of a return to Stalinist methods.

Smoking in Bed Costs Two Lives

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Smoking in bed cost the lives of two Kansas Citizens in separate fires Saturday night, the coroner's office said.

Harry Hakanson, 36, was found on the floor of his bedroom. Damage to house and contents was estimated at $1,350.

About two hours earlier Mrs. Helen R. Snow, 54, a telephone operator, was found on the kitchen floor of her apartment. Firemen said the blaze started in her bedroom and she apparently was trying to escape when she collapsed in the kitchen.

Smallest Quad Loses Struggle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of the quadruplets born to James and Lorraine Gallion died Sunday in the County-University of Southern California Medical Center.

The tiniest of the quadruplets, a girl, who weighed one pound, 11 ounces at birth last Friday, was "just too small to make it," a hospital spokesman said.

The other three infants—two girls and a boy—were reported in satisfactory condition. The largest weighed 2 pounds, 11 ounces at birth.

Sequence of Crash

A $1.8 million-dollar Lunar Landing Training Vehicle goes out of control and test pilot Joseph Algranti ejects (bottom, left) and parachutes to safety, uninjured. The craft, used to train astronauts for moon landings, was destroyed. (UPI)

Crash of Moon Trainer Could Hurt U.S. Plans

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The crash Sunday of a spider-like craft designed to teach pilots how to land on the moon may have been an "unassessable setback" to America's man-to-the-moon program, a space official said.

The training vehicle, a bug-like craft which darts and hovers in an artificially created one-sixth earth gravity similar to the moon's, crashed after developing wildly uncontrollable twisting and swaying motions.

The pilot, Joseph Algranti, ejected and parachuted to safety. Algranti, a test pilot for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was unhurt.

Paul Haney, director of public affairs at the NASA spacecraft center, said the crash of the $1.8 million Lunar Landing Training Vehicle—LLTV—may have been "an unassessable setback" to the lunar landing project, "but to what degree is anybody's guess."

"We'll have to figure the effect on an over-all training program," Haney said. "The flight was to have been the last major test before the craft was used for astronaut training."

An accident investigation board, headed by astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., convened shortly after the accident but its report is not expected for some time.

Astronaut Neil Armstrong was at the controls of a similar craft last May when it went out of control. He parachuted to safety, suffering minor injuries. The craft crashed and exploded.

NASA officials said Algranti was four minutes into a six-minute flight when the craft developed a "hammock-like action" and went out of control. Algranti was descending from 550 feet and ejected at about 200 feet, officials said.

A board investigating Armstrong's crash said it resulted from an inadequate warning system which failed to tell the pilot early enough that he was losing fuel pressure in one rocket system. The late warning did not leave Armstrong time to respond properly.

The LLTV which crashed Sunday included changes in equipment which the board recommended as a result of the earlier crash.

Algranti, a 43-year-old ex-Navy pilot, was chairman of the board which investigated the earlier flight. He made the first flight of the LLTV following that crash and has made more than 30 such flights. The craft which crashed had been flown successfully 14 times.

The LLTV is a wingless platform housing turbofan and

Wide Search For Jewelry By Company

CHICAGO (AP) — Sears, Roebuck & Co. officials are continuing a nationwide search for 300 to 400 pieces of costume jewelry, which are decorated with a poisonous tropical bean that could cause death if swallowed.

A Sears spokesman, Ernest L. Arms, Sunday urged buyers of the $1 pins to return them to the store where they were purchased.

Arms estimated that 31 pins imported from Japan by a New York firm were sold to customers in the Chicago area and more than 300 nationwide through 138 Sears outlets in at least 110 cities.

A Food and Drug Administration spokesman in Washington said Sears received 200 boxes, thruster jets. The turbofan gives lift equal to five-sixths the vehicle's weight. The remaining one-sixth simulates the moon's gravity. Pilots use the jet thrusters to hover and maneuver the craft, simulating a landing on the moon.

Bell Aerosystems developed the LLTV under a $5.6-million contract. NASA has two of the craft remaining.

each containing 48 pins. About 12 pins in each box were decorated with the deadly jequirity bean.

Police Report

Everett Lefevers, night watchman at the Swift & Co. plant at 226 East Pacific, reported Sunday that the freezer at the plant had been broken open. Investigation showed six or seven boxes, containing two turkeys each, were missing. The thief or thieves apparently gained entrance to the building through a walk-in door on the north side of the building, according to the police report.

Sunday afternoon a 1969 Buick being driven by Gary Kesner, Route 2, was damaged by some gravel thrown off the railroad tracks crossing the underpass on East Broadway. The driver told police some boys threw the gravel. The windshield of the car was pitted.

Sunday night police received a report that two shots had been fired in the vicinity of seventh and Moniteau. Officers failed to find the culprit.

Saturday night Mrs. Phillip Hoffman, 825 West Sixth, reported the loss of some items from her purse. In connection with the case, a juvenile was picked up and turned over to the juvenile officer.

Police Court

The case of William E. Bilderback, 2212 South Ohio, charged with careless and imprudent driving, was dismissed when the complaining witness failed to appear.

Richard H. Green, 1009 East 13th, charged with leaving the scene of an accident, forfeited his $100 bond.

James E. Clark, 1009 North Osage, charged with driving with improper lights, pleaded guilty and was fined $5.

Judson Banks, 1009 East Broadway, charged with running a stop sign, pleaded guilty and was fined $5.

Ethel Moorehead, 516 West Morgan, charged with disturbing the peace, pleaded innocent and the case was dismissed.

Nine Killed On Missouri Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Nine persons, including seven teenagers in one accident, were killed in traffic mishaps in Missouri over the weekend.

A taxicab passenger, Merrill C. Reed, 41, Kansas City, was killed in a two-car accident early Sunday in Kansas City.

Mrs. Frances Mettemeyer, 56, St. Joseph, was killed Saturday night in a two-car crash in St. Joseph.

Seven teenagers were killed in the crash of their car and a crane-carrying truck on U.S. 66 Friday night east of St. Clair near St. Louis.

The victims were: Steven B. Hinchcliff, 17, the driver of the car, Paul D. Clark, 17, Edwin Trautmann, 17, Brenda Caldwell, 16, and Alice Elkins, 16, all of St. Clair, and Carl R. Love, 15, and Robert Steinbach, 17, both of Sullivan, Mo.

The Fugio cent of 1787 was the first cent issued under the authority of the United States.

Seventeen Men Killed In Collision

WHITE CASTLE, La. (AP)—Divers today search by touch in the sunken White Alder for bodies of 17 crewmen missing since a collision with a freighter sent the Coast Guard buoy tender 75 feet to the bottom of the Mississippi River near here.

The shoreline and river search for the men continued. It began shortly after the 133-foot vessel was hit by the Nationalist Chinese freighter Helena Saturday night.

Three of the 20-man crew were plucked from the river but no trace of the others was found.

After hours of dragging operations, the White Alder was located Sunday when three large cannister buoys from the vessel rose to the surface, giving away its resting place.

The boat was grappled from the surface and marked with buoys.

Operations were suspended pending the arrival of a Navy diving team and its tons of equipment. Lt. Philip Sage said a decision was made not to send scuba divers down Sunday because of choppy waters and the possibility that other buoys would break free and come rushing to the surface.

No official word was given on the possibility of more survivors, but a Coast Guardsman said privately that little hope was held since no contact had been made in the search.

him up to date about things in France."

The brother-in-law of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., indicated he and Nixon didn't discuss a possible Cabinet appointment for Shriver nor even the possibility of his continuing as ambassador to France. However, the fact that the conversation at the President-elect's Fifth Avenue apartment was the longest yet announced by Nixon prompted speculation about Shriver's future.

Shriver described the meeting as "a pleasant and I hope useful visit." He said it would be up to Nixon to reveal whether he was given any personal message to carry to French President Charles de Gaulle.

Herbert Klein, Nixon's director of communications, said Sunday that he thought the incoming President would seek closer ties with Western European allies before considering personal talks with Soviet leaders.

consideration in each audit.

Cobb, director of the local office, said he had attended many out-of-town training seminars and admitted he might have been at fault for not making a full report to the board after his return. He also said, however, the board had shown little active interest in finding out why the trips were undertaken or what occurred at the seminars.

Each trip, however, was again approved by the regional office which supervises the local area office's operations.

Perhaps the thing that is the most difficult for MMCAC people to swallow is the charge that "very little work is being done on new or even continuing on the present programs."

The amount of work done in each program depends not only on the amount originally funded, but also on the "in-kind donations" of time and facilities which are counted in terms of dollars per hour or square feet of space donated.

In-kind donations have to make up a certain percentage of the original amount funded. If they don't, the funded amount is reduced proportionately.

Cobb said some projects originally directed by MMCAC have been turned over to the jurisdiction of other agencies, such as State Fair Community College. One of them was in the area of vocational training.

There is a program, however, new to this area for which Cobb hopes the local agency will be funded.

Called Older Americans Skill Development Program, the project is designed to place unskilled or semi-skilled persons 50 years old or older in job training and work experience in public agencies. The public agencies aspects was given special emphasis.

Cobb explained that extension centers, Whiteman AFB, the junior college, courthouse and State Fair, among other "public agencies," would probably be involved.

He also said that the training period extends for one year and that at the end of the year the training agency will be reimbursed for its time and cost of training the "Older Americans."

Whether or not the project will ever be funded now depends on what action the City Council and County Court decide to take.

Both the council and court demand explanations of alleged MMCAC mismanagement, and at least one government official believes that if Cobb were replaced by a new director, the City Council might be inclined to change its mind and renew sponsorship of the agency.

Sponsorship by a government subdivision is required under a recently-passed federal law.

If the governing bodies refuse to sponsor the MMCAC program here, Cobb has indicated that the Pettis County phase of the agency will not be refunded and all programs will be terminated Feb. 28, 1969.

S-C Cage Game Set Tuesday

Tuesday evening the A and B cage teams of the Smith-Cotton High School Tigers will contend with those of the Boonville Pirates. The B game will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Smith-Cotton Physical Education Building, and the A game will follow at 8 p.m. Both contests are the opening home games for the Bengals.

The Boonville team were the runners-up of class "M" in the state tournament last year, and several lettermen are returning this year to defend the title. The starting line-up for the pirates will be Jim Bornhauser, 5'9", guard; Terry Wolfe, 6', guard; Larry Rowles, 6', forward; Wayne Jones, 6'2", center; and Bob Gerding, 6'2", forward.

"Even though Smith-Cotton won one and lost two at the Tipton tournament, I am pleased with the overall performance of the squad," stated Paul Schwartz, head Bengal coach. "In the pre-season Tipton tournament, we changed the entire offense, and we expected to make more mistakes than usual." He also revealed that Boonville's season thus far has been an average one.

The starters for Sedalia will be Jim Lewis, forward, 6'3"; Allan Browder, forward, 5'11"; Skip Tornquist, center, 6'4"; Bob Logan, guard, 6'2"; and Bill Woolery, guard, 6'.

GOOD FARMING with Lloyd Lewellen

Pettis County Farm Management Agent

The Extension Center has received a supply of the 1969 Farmers Tax Guides. Anyone may receive a copy by calling or contacting this office.

INCOME TAX MANAGEMENT

Many hands will be reaching for our income dollars during the next few weeks — including Santa Claus and Uncle Sam. While each is entitled to his fair share, it is up to us, individually to make sure that he gets no more.

The first step in tax management is to summarize your records for the year thus far and add on estimated income and expenses for December. Then, subtract total expenses and depreciation from total receipts to get your prospective net farm profit — to which you should add net income from all other sources to determine your adjusted gross income for 1968. Now, you may subtract the sum of your exemption ($600 each) and your personal deductions (10 per cent of your adjusted gross income for quick figuring) to determine your taxable income for the year.

If this taxable income estimate is considerably above the average for your operation and you wish to minimize your tax payments on 1968 income, you still have time for some tax management procedures, even though maximum benefits can be realized only through year around tax management. Here are a few things you still may have to do.

Increase expenditures in December for items needed in next year's operations, such as prior purchase of fertilizer, feed, seed, and other supplies.

Hire land improvement and soil conservation work done in December, if weather permits, such as terracing, outlets, diversions, clearing, drainage and other practices.

Such expenditures are now fully deductible from income in the year completed, up to 25 per cent of your gross income from farming during the year.

Claim the 20 per cent additional depreciation on machinery and other qualified personal property purchased during the year.

Increase your investment credit deductions (which may be subtracted directly from taxes computed) by purchasing needed machinery and other qualified facilities before December 31; and if you file by the cash method you may delay the sale of some livestock, grain and other products until after Dec. 31.

Please keep in mind, however, that most of these efforts to reduce taxable income for 1968 may increase the income on which you pay taxes in 1969 and later years. This requires careful evaluation of your prospective income for next year as compared to this.

GASOLINE TAX

Gasoline used on the farm by farmers is entitled to tax refunds from the state and federal government. For the gasoline that qualifies there is a 4 cent per gallon federal gasoline tax credit to be gained on your income tax return. There is a 5 cent per gallon state gasoline tax refund if you ask for it before the ticket is one year old. Some farmers will likely forget this state gasoline tax refund and not file but once a year. Since you can make a claim for the federal gasoline tax only once a year, it is easy to forget the state tax. No longer do you get a refund from

Extension Horticulturist

Winter is close by, and most of us do not give a thought to spring, but too soon we will succumb to the demands of the spring lawn and garden. At that time we will be in no mood to fool with broken tools and equipment. These long winter evenings, or perhaps a brief Christmas vacation, may furnish the extra time necessary to get the tools in order.

A power mower is usually the piece of equipment we use most. In a short time it can be winterized so that it will run properly when that spring lawn needs cutting twice a week.

First, wash off the mower and remove any oil, grass stains, and clippings stuck to the housing. Then run the engine until the fuel tank is empty and the engine stops. If this is not done, fuel evaporation will cause gum to form on the carburetor parts when the engine is idle for a long period of time. Next, check the air cleaner, remove the filter element and rinse it in kerosene.

If you have a rotary mower, detach the blade and inspect it. If it is slightly bent, it can be straightened and sharpened. If the blade is badly damaged, now is the time to order a new one. Be sure to always disconnect the spark plug wire before removing the blade! Next, with the cylinder in vertical position, remove the spark plug and pour about a tablespoon of clean oil through the opening. Crank the engine slowly to distribute oil on the cylinder walls. Replace the spark plug. Lubricate the wheel bearings and all moving parts with a light machine oil. Go over the entire mower with a rag dipped in oil. Allow the film to remain. Cover the mower base and engine, and store in a dry place. A similar maintenance practice should be done with a rotary tiller or small garden tractor.

Not only should mechanical equipment be serviced, but small equipment and tools such as shovels, rakes, sprayers, and shears should be put away properly for the winter. Before storing your tools, sharpen the blades and coat the iron parts with machine oil. Cover the wooden parts with paint or linseed oil. Store the tools in a dry place. Wash out all sprayers with warm water to remove the spray residues. Sprayers should be hung in a dry place in such a way that all water drains out. Lock the handle so the valve is open and the hose line can drain.

Do not wash a duster. Brush it out with a steel brush instead. Some of the outside metal parts can be oiled, but be careful not to get oil inside the duster.

Left-over chemicals need special attention. Store them in a dry place in air-tight containers. A glass jar makes a good container because it can be tightly sealed. Make sure that all chemicals are labeled correctly and are kept out of the reach of children and animals.

EDITORIALS

Are You on Sucker List?

How many Central Missourians are on mailing lists of sellers of unordered merchandise who usually include a letter with a soft-sell charitable plea?

There must be thousands who receive the unsolicited items, keep them, pay for them, and thus continue to remain on the mailing lists year after year for assortments of greeting cards, Christmas cards, varieties of hair combs, thermometers, ties, pencils, purses, letter-openers, etc.

Some of the items have utility value but mostly are not needed by the recipients who feel compelled to accept them and send in a contribution on the plea that they will be supporting a charitable enterprise.

Although there seems to be an acceleration of this kind of selling preceding the Christmas holidays, the pitches are made all year long to children and parents. Then if they don't pay they are harassed by duns.

The Consumers Union advises that you don't have to pay for anything you didn't order and don't use. The law will back you up on this.

Both the Post Office and Federal Trade

Commission state that an individual receiving unordered merchandise is under no obligation either to return it or pay for it unless he uses it.

But what bugs us is how the seller, demanding payment, is going to prove whether or not you used the necktie, thermometer, or what ever it was they sent through the mails?

Something to remember about the disposition of unsolicited merchandise is that as long as a package hasn't been opened it can easily enough be returned, for no additional postage, simply by writing "refused" on it and handing it to the postman. However, if a package has been opened and resealed, additional postage will be necessary to return it.

This is advice to Missourians, and residents of most other states. In New York, Maryland and Illinois, they needn't bother. Persons there can open unsolicited merchandise and enjoy it, if possible, at the expense of the sender. Laws in those states declare that anyone receiving anything in the mail that he didn't order may consider it a free gift.

Why not a similar law in Missouri?

A Pox on Know-It-Alls

I try to keep an open mind about it, but I tend toward the belief that anybody can make mistakes—even those who tag themselves An Authority.

Recently I wrote a note to an old friend of mind in Cincinnati telling her how proud and happy I was to learn of her youngest daughter, Julie, taking top honors in her high school graduating class. Among other awards Julie was given a sizable college scholarship.

But, although Julie's achievements were her own, I couldn't help wondering if it were all made possible because her mother helped her along the way. Her mother's help was mainly the requirement set for all her children—the best you can and don't worry about it.

I know that when her oldest daughter, Rosalie, entered first grade, my friend was called to the school and solemnly told that "tests proved" Rosalie was rather slow and would never be capable of more than "D" work. The school authorities told the mother how to handle such a child and she, in effect, said, thanks a lot. Then, she told them her one requirement and that was to never tell Rosalie she was rather slow. The parents then merely said to Rosalie they expected the very best she could do.

You know the end of the story, don't you? Rosalie not only was valedictorian of her class but is now doing graduate work and plans to be a college physics instructor.

I suppose it is never too late to buck the know-it-alls. About two years ago Diane Fossey told me her dream had always been to go to Africa. She had a better than good job in a hospital and had finally reached the age where she decided it was then or never. She spent all her savings on a safari. Africa was everything she dreamed it would be for her, but when she conceived the idea of going back to do a study on relatively unknown gorillas, she was told she did not have the required education, training and background.

Where is Diane now? Well, my last letter was addressed to her in Rwanda. You see, she's over in Africa doing a study on gorillas for the National Geographic Society.

Capital Culture

By CYRENE DEAR

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The nation's capital is dripping with culture, but perhaps it is that time of the year. Many of the musical and theatrical events are emphasizing the Christmas season. The Turkish Embassy was the perfect setting recently for Paul Hume's (music critic of the Washington Post) lecture on Gian Carlo Menotti's opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors" which is opening the opera season here.

Menotti is considered an American composer because his operas are all in English, although he is an Italian who has never become an American citizen. He has, however, made his thirteen operas, notably the miracle ones, popular in many countries. Menotti was commissioned twenty years ago by C.B.S. to write "Amahl" for television and it has been presented over that medium annually ever since. It has taken its place with Handel's "The Messiah" and Dickens' "The Christmas Carol" as part of the holiday season.

Menotti is his own librettist as well as composer. "How can I write the music if I don't know what the singers are saying," he says. "I am most interested in my characters portraying their roles as human beings." As he directs his rehearsals he also acts the parts.

For the opening of this year's season "Amahl and the Night Visitors," an enchanting Christmas fable, is paired with "The Medium," in which the popular Metropolitan opera star Regina Resnik sings the role of the fake spiritualist, Madame Flora, who begins to believe in her own powers.

The Menotti operas mark the return of The Opera Society of Washington, Inc., this year after an interruption of one year due to lack of funds. This organization, like the other musical and theatrical groups, is looking forward to the completion of the Kennedy Center for Performing Arts where they will have adequate space and proper settings for the cultural programs suited to the nation's capital.

Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D.C., is located on the site of an engagement of the Civil War known as the Battle of Ft. Stevens.

Record Exodus of U.S. Diplomats

DREW PEARSON and JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Probably at no time in this century will there be such an exodus of those who form and execute American foreign policy as will take place on January 20. Age plus politics will see all the veteran diplomats of the United States retiring, together with the entire "seventh floor" of the State Department. The seventh floor is occupied by Secretary of State Deank Rusk, together with all his under secretaries and policy makers.

While the exodus of political appointees was expected, such key career diplomats as Charles Bohlen, Deputy Under Secretary of State; and Llewellyn Thompson, Ambassador to the Soviet Union, and David K.E. Bruce, Ambassador to London, are also leaving. They have served under both Republican and Democratic presidents.

Averell Harriman, chief negotiator in Paris and former Ambassador in Moscow, London and Paris, will also depart, together with Chester Bowles, Ambassador to India, who has served as governor of Connecticut, a Democratic member of Congress and Under Secretary of State.

It was a foregone conclusion that Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law of John F. Kennedy, should resign as Ambassador to France. Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican running mate of Nixon's in 1960, has also added to be relieved as Ambassador to West Germany, though he is available for other assignments, probably as U.S. peace negotiator in Paris.

Robert Wagner, the former mayor of New York and a staunch Democrat, is of course slated to leave as American Ambassador to Spain. In addition, Carter Bruggess, who served in the Defense Department under Eisenhower, is leaving as Ambassador to Argentina.

H. Gardner Ackley is departing as Ambassador to Rome; John Hayes as Ambassador to Switzerland; William Heath, the President's old Texas friend, as Ambassador to Sweden; Fulton Freeman as Ambassador to Mexico, and George McGhee, a career diplomat and former envoy to Germany, is retiring as ambassador at large.

It also happens that most of the assistant secretaries in charge of regional areas of the world will be resigning, most of them career diplomats. They include John Leddy for European affairs, Covey Oliver for Latin America, and William Bundy for the Far East, despite the fact that his family are Republicans. Luke Battle has recently retired as Assistant Secretary for the Near East while Edward Ray is retiring as Assistant Secretary for Cultural Affairs.

William Gaud is retiring as Administrator of Aid; Anthony Solomon as Assistant Secretary for Economic Affairs; while Leonard Marks has already retired as Director of USIA.

The danger is that such a large shift both of policy makers and career diplomats at one time could lead to disruption of foreign policy during a period when the international problems of the United States are delicately balanced, especially in Southeast Asia and the Near East.

Note — First diplomat whose resignation will be accepted by Nixon will be William Costello, Ambassador to Trinidad and Tobago, author of the very critical book, "The Facts About Nixon."

—Promoting Black Capitalism—

In the last campaign Richard Nixon emphasized the need of bringing "black capitalism" into our free enterprise system. One man who is already doing it is Howard Samuels, the New York business executive who now heads the Small Business Administration.

Samuels has initiated "project own," aimed at establishing negro-owned businesses in ghettos throughout the nation, from Harlem to Watts. It is "the biggest dose of hope ever administered to black business ownership," says Negro writer William Raspberry of the Washington Post.

Though Samuels has been on the job only four months, he has already shown phenomenal results in convincing private bankers that financing Negro enterprises is a good business.

"This is not a giveaway program," he says. "The SBS makes no loans. It only guarantees loans made by banks and small business investment companies, which use their own screening facilities. There is nothing new about it except that many private financiers are realizing for the first time that a businessman can be an acceptable risk regardless of his color.

"All we are doing really is helping black people to help themselves — and their communities."

Samuels goal is to establish new enterprises in the ghetto at the rate of 10,000 a year. He's already showing an annual rate of 5,000 though he's only started. The most mobile man in Washington, he sometimes delivers as many as four speeches a day in cities from coast to coast.

He has visited 23 cities since he took office on Aug. 1, 1968, talking to bankers, businessmen and ghetto leaders, sometimes a mixture of all three. White businessmen volunteer courses in management training, also individual help and advice to Negro merchants in the ghetto.

"We've got to start treating the inner city like we helped under-privileged and war ravaged countries after World War II," says Samuels. "It isn't just a matter of dollar financing, vital as this is. The struggling store owner in the ghetto usually lacks management experience. We must provide the know-how through experts.

"But the most important thing of all is community pride. You can't succeed in business without pride in your environment, and conversely you can't engender pride in the ghetto without successful businesses of its own. Both are interdependent."

Samuels, who is 49, ran for lieutenant governor of New York against the Rockefeller ticket and lost. In view of his political background, he is almost certain to be removed by Nixon, despite Nixon's campaign promise to encourage "black capitalism."

Letter to the Editor

EXECUTIVE OFFICER W.E. PUMMILL, S.M. (Sedalia Squadron, Civil Air Patrol) — On behalf of Doctor Longworth, her entire staff, and Cadets, I wish to give you my heartfelt thanks for the editorial in December 5, issue of the Sedalia Democrat, which was on the Civil Air Patrol Youth Program. In addition to the Aviation and Aerospace Projects offered to our Cadets, we have a very fine moral training program under the supervision of our Chaplain, Father Miller, of Sacred Heart Church. We would like to invite any younger age 13 to 18 and any potential adult who would be interested in becoming a Civil Air Patrol member to visit us any Tuesday evening at 6:30 in our CAP Building at Sedalia Memorial Airport.

As a matter of fact, former President Harry S. Truman is a Charter Member of the Civil Air Patrol.

At the stated communication of Sedalia Lodge No. 236, A.F. & A.M. the following officers were elected for 1944: Worshipful Master, Lawrence Barnett; Senior Warden, George A. Walters; Junior Warden, W. Jewell Nave; Treasurer, J.E. Smith; Secretary, Walter J. Kennedy.

NINETY YEARS AGO

New Economics Fails In Forecasting Area

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Among the likely departures from Washington along with the Democratic administration is an economic idea, the belief that the economy can be fine tuned.

This is not to say that the economy never can be made to do the bidding of the monetary and fiscal masters, which are the Federal Reserve Board and those who control government spending and taxes.

But at the present time the attempt to give precise orders has failed. The economy has been disobedient, despite the theory that it can be regulated, manipulated, forced to respond in precisely predictable ways to government spending and taxes, and to the amount of money permitted to flow to business and consumers.

Fine tuning was a concept of the New Economists, the very people who put through the stunningly successful tax cut of 1964 that spurred the economy to its greatest heights ever.

This was a huge triumph. By lowering income taxes, the economy was so encouraged to expand that the federal government, although taking less from everyone, ended up with more revenue than it had been able to earn previously.

This maneuver showed how much government and its economists, under certain circumstances, can control the economy. It indicated that refinements were on the way that would eliminate depressions and inflation.

It didn't work out that way, and perhaps the most basic error of the New Economics was that its forecasting methods were imperfect.

The year 1965 was a fateful one. A decision was made then to increase domestic and military spending without a corresponding increase in the flow of tax revenue. This was not an economic decision.

It was a contradiction also and it soon showed up in inflation. The New Economics, in theory, would have avoided inflation as dangerous to the economy.

Inflation, came however, as the New Economics fell defeated before political and other considerations.

In fact, the New Economics, the theory that sees Uncle Sam as not just the collector of revenue but the controller and manipulator of the economy as well, has not been used in three years.

When an attempt was made to put the theory back into practice earlier this year, some harmony but much discordance resulted. The fine tuners still were off their mark. Forecasting remained imperfect.

Instead of slowing under the weight of the surtax, economic expansion continued at an inflationary pace. Government spending was checked, it is true, but the consumer and business went on a spree.

Such extravagance was not foreseen. And last week fine tuning continued to produce sour notes.

Inflation persisted, and business spending plans for new plants and equipment were found to be much higher than expected, a full nine per cent over the 1968 rate. And interest rates, which had been expected to come down, were rising instead.

Perhaps the close of a chapter was the appointment of Dr. Paul McCracken as President-elect Richard M. Nixon's chief economic adviser. McCracken, a traditionalist, does not put great faith in fine tuning.

Whether this is the end of a chapter only or of the entire story cannot be foreseen. Human forecasting methods are not that precise at this point. Even New Economists might admit this.

123 E. 16th, Sedalia

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's those darned hour shows; they've been giving trouble to a lot of us half-hours," said Lucille Ball in analyzing the fortunes of the first season of her third television series.

To the outsider, "Here's Lucy" would seem to be far from being in trouble. The latest rating showed the half-hour comedy show in 15th place, a highly respectable position.

But to Lucille Ball the perfectionist that isn't good enough. For most of the past 18 years, Monday night has been Lucy's special property. Then along came a show called "Laugh-in."

The Rowan and Martin madhouse precedes "Here's Lucy" by a half-hour, and therein lies the trouble, opines Miss Ball.

"People get hooked on hour shows and they just won't switch," she remarked in her executive suite during a break in rehearsals.

Concerning the "Laugh-in" competition, she remarked: "I never think about the opposition. I simply try to do the best job I can, and I think we've done quite well. We've had some bad shows, but we've managed some darned good ones, too. And I'm proud of the way the children have come through."

The children are her own: Lucie Arnaz, 17, and Desi Arnaz Jr., nearly 16. They are the co-stars of "Here's Lucy," and their mother explained how it happened:

"When Paramount bought out Desilu, they also bought the format of 'The Lucy Show.' It became theirs, completely. So I either had to negotiate with them to use the format, or I had to find a new one."

What Lucille wants to do is CBS's annual question mark. She is nearing the last of the 24 scheduled shows for this season, and soon she will make up her mind whether to try for another. The children are eager to do so, and it appears likely that

"Here's Lucy" will be back next fall.

"If I do go back, I'll do some things differently," she commented. "I might film six of the 24 outside the studio on location. I don't really like to, nor do the children; we all like that instant response from the studio audience—it's like opening night every week.

"I would also give the children more to do, particularly in the musical vein. This season the writers didn't know how much Lucie and Desi could manage, and they didn't push them too hard. But the kids met every challenge and were eager for more."

Sedalia Junior Kickers Take Whiteman Team

The Sedalia Junior Kickers traveled to Whiteman AFB Sunday for a soccer match with the Whiteman team. It was a sunny but chilly afternoon, but Sedalia was warm enough to beat Whiteman 8 to 2.

With good defensive work provided by Terry Buckner, Howard Estill, Bob Paxton, and Goalie Gene Hamby and crisp mid-field play by David Dennis and the Parker brothers, Jim and Rich, the ball was kept in Whiteman's end of the field most of the game.

Whiteman started the scoring early in the game with a goal by Alex Greer. The Sedalians came back quickly as Dennis Johnson drilled the ball in the net off a pass from Bill Balance. David Dennis scored next on an assist from Jim Parker. Next Bill Balance connected on his first of three goals on a pass from Dennis Johnson, just before the first half ended.

Whiteman made the score 3 to 2 in the opening minutes of the second half on a goal by Szklanceki. The Sedalia team dominated the rest of the game as Bill Balance scored his second goal with assist again by Dennis Johnson and completed the hat trick on his third goal with an assist from Donovan Simon. David Dennis then scored his second goal, unassisted and Dennis Johnson drove home another on a pass from Donovan Simon.

Just before the final whistle, Harold Williams made a beautiful lead pass to Bobby Paxton and Bobby put the ball high in the net from 30 yards out.

Another Routine Night In Hockey

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was another routine night for the 40-year-old hockey player. Two goals, two assists, a regular turn plus some penalty killing and work on the power play. Just a routine, Gordie Howe night.

Now in his 23rd National Hockey League season, hockey's all-time scoring king shows little sign of slowing down. Howe drove Detroit to four first period goals and a 5-1 victory over New York Sunday night, leaving younger players huffing for breath up ice as he controlled play.

"He is sometimes unbelievable," marvelled Sid Abel, once Howe's linemate, later his coach and now Detroit general manager.

"The first 700 goals," Howe quipped, "are the toughest."

Gordie's 14th and 15th of the season gave him 702 for his career and he acknowledged that 714—Babe Ruth's alltime home run total—would be his next milestone.

"But he hit his a lot farther than mine," winked Howe.

Howe's wasn't the only hot stick in the NHL Sunday night. Bobby Hull notched his 23rd career hat trick, leading Chicago to a 7-4 victory over Boston. Toronto dropped Pittsburgh 4-1. St. Louis and Philadelphia battled to a 4-4 tie and Minnesota upended Oakland 4-1.

In Saturday's games, Toronto rapped New York 5-2, Boston dropped Detroit 4-1, Montreal whacked Chicago 6-3, Los Angeles edged Minnesota 3-2 and Pittsburgh tied St. Louis 1-1.

Howe's first-period explosion was a complete turnaround from his game against Boston the night before. He never managed a shot on goal against the Bruins.

"I don't know what it is," said Howe. "You do the same things day in and day out and they work fine some days and not so fine others."

They worked fine against the Rangers. He scored the game's first goal and then after Dean Prentice and Frank Mahovlich eyeball to eyeball with the Monsters of the Midway.

The Baltimore Colts watched Gabriel's nightmare—including a misplaced fourth down—unfold from a safe distance. But those big, bad Bears looked beautiful to them. Just beautiful.

The Bears, riddled by injuries earlier in the National Football League season, rose up Sunday to terrorize Gabriel and topple Los Angeles 17-16, handing Baltimore the Coastal Division title and keeping their own championship hopes alive.

The loss eliminated the Rams one week before their anticipated season-closing showdown with the Colts. The victory kept Chicago tied for first place with the Minnesota Vikings, who trimmed San Francisco 30-20, in the Central Division stretch race. The Bears take on Green Bay and the Vikings meet Philadelphia next Sunday.

Cleveland nailed the Century Division crown with a 24-21 victory over Washington; St. Louis downed New York 28-21; Dallas topped Pittsburgh 28-7; Detroit beat Atlanta 24-7 and Philadelphia outscored New Orleans 29-18 in other games.

The Eagles' second successive victory after 11 straight setbacks cost them the No. 1 pick ... most likely Heisman Trophy winner O.J. Simpson ... in the upcoming college draft.

The Buffalo Bills, who bowed to Houston 35-6 Saturday for a 1-12-1 American Football League finish, inherited the top draft choice. In Sunday's AFL action, Kansas City crushed San Diego 40-3; Oakland slipped past Denver 33-27; New York defeated Cincinnati 27-14 and Miami trounced Boston 38-7.

The Colts eliminated Green Bay's defending NFL champs 16-3 Saturday, then sat back and watched the Bears-Rams thriller on television along with a national video audience.

They saw Gabriel, the Rams' gifted quarterback, harassed by Chicago's fierce defenders and then knocked out of the game temporarily by a blind-side

LaMonte Wins In Warsaw Tournament

The Thirty-Sixth Annual Warsaw Basketball Tournament saw LaMonte, league favorites, win Saturday night over Warsaw, 60-55. Sevier led LaMonte with 18 points while G. Martin led Warsaw with 11.

In the consolation game, Clinton defeated Lincoln 78-68. Clinton's scoring was led by Steward and Morgan with 18 and 20 respectively. Lincoln's big scorers were Eken with 21 and McCain with 18.

The volleyball game saw Stover defeat Cole Camp soundly by the score of 31-14.

St. Louis, leading the West, stretched its unbeaten string to 12 games with the tie against the Philadelphia Flyers. The Blues, who have not lost in a month, lead the expansion division by 10 points.

Simon Nolet scored twice for the Flyers, who tied the game with eight minutes remaining on a goal by Forbes Kennedy. Noel Picard, cut in an earlier fracas with Pat Hannigan, had given St. Louis a third-period lead.

Minnesota snapped a nine-game winless streak while breaking Oakland's four-game unbeaten string. The North Stars erupted for three goals in the third period to shatter a 1-1 tie. Claude Larose produced the tie-breaker and Ray Cullen and Bob McCord added the insurance goals.

tackle in the second quarter.

With Gabriel on the sidelines, they saw the Bears seize a 10-7 lead after Clarence Childs' 88-yard kickoff return and move ahead 17-7 following Dick Butkus' interception of a Milt Plum pass.

Then they saw the Rams close the gap on a third quarter safety and Gabriel's three-yard scoring jaunt with 2:42 left in the game. They squirmed as the Rams mounted a last-ditch drive to the Chicago 32, within field goal range, with 24 seconds remaining.

Finally, they saw the drive fizzle ... thanks to a 15-yard holding penalty and an apparent blunder by the officials. According to the official play-by-play sheet, the Rams were allowed three downs, instead of four, following the first-down infraction.

Before anyone, including the Rams, caught the mistake, the game was over ... leaving Los Angeles out in the cold and the Colts limp, but exuberant.

"Fantastic!" echoed veteran defensive back Bob Boyd. "I'm a nervous wreck, completely wrung out. It's hell to watch. I'd rather play."

"The Bears did a helluva job," said Johnny Unitas. "They got to Gabriel early and seemed to shake him up. I guess he was knocked dizzy. He didn't seem to call his game after that."

Gabriel completed seven of 23 passes for 118 yards. His net passing yardage in the first half was zero.

The Bears awarded one game ball to Butkus and another to ex-coach and club owner George Halas, the 77-year-old Monster Maker who is recuperating from a serious hip operation.

Joe Kapp passed for one touchdown and ran for two more, staking Minnesota to a 27-6 lead, but the Vikings barely withstood a fourth quarter 49er rally to keep pace with the Bears at 7-6 in the Central derby.

Don Cockroft booted a tie-breaking field goal and Bill Nelson fired a 38-yard touchdown pass to Paul Warfield in a two-minute, fourth-quarter burst that gave the Browns their Century-clinching eighth straight victory.

The Cardinals outscored the Giants behind fullback Willis Crenshaw, who rambled for 162 yards and three touchdowns, including a 66-yard gallop. But they remained 1½ games behind Cleveland with just one to play ... against the Browns next Saturday at St. Louis.

Bob Hayes bolted 90 yards with a punt for one touchdown and scored another on a 53-yard pass from Don Meredith as Dallas' Capitol Division kings battered Pittsburgh. Meredith also hit Lance Rentzel with a 65-yard TD bomb and Craig Baynam with a five-yard payoff pitch.

Little Billy Gambrell grabbed three scoring passes from Bill Munson, good for 26, 7 and 22 yards, sparking Detroit to its first victory in two months.

Norm Snead threw his third scoring pass of the game and Tom Woodeshick broke loose for a 30-yard touchdown run in the last four minutes, sending the Eagles past New Orleans and making a happy man of Coach Joe Kuharich.

A planned boycott of the game by Philadelphia fans who had become disenchanted with Kuharich appeared to fizzle as 57,128 turned out in 60,000-seat Franklin Field.

"There's no substitute for victory," purred Kuharich.

Hank Stram Is Worrying About Tough Week Ahead

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs put it all together and it couldn't have been easier, but Coach Hank Stram already is worrying about a possible ambush next Sunday in Denver.

"We've got a tough week ahead," Stram said after his Chiefs, co-leaders with Oakland in the American Football League's Western Division with 11-2 records, eliminated the San Diego Chargers in a 40-3 rout Sunday.

Stram said he didn't think the chargers would be "so easy." But, he said, "seven interceptions tell the story. We didn't put it all together until today. This was by far our best game of the year."

The Chiefs conclude the regular season against Denver while the Raiders travel to San Diego. Barring an upset, the division title will be decided in a Dec. 22 playoff between the Chiefs and Raiders at Oakland.

"We'd like to win it without a playoff," said Stram. And he pointed out that San Diego, which defeated Oakland earlier this year, "is explosive enough to give anybody a fit."

But Sid Gillman, coach of the Chargers, now 9-4, and his quarterback, John Hadl, had all the fits.

"We got beat real good, that's all," said Gillman. Hadl joins five other AFL quarterbacks with the dubious honor of throwing six interceptions in one game.

"They had a great rush. Those guys 6-foot-7 look 100 feet tall when you try to throw over 'em."

The Chargers were set up by Kansas City's mammoth forwards an alert secondary; Chief quarterback Len Dawson finished the off by hitting seven of 12 passes for three touchdowns.

The Chiefs stole seven Charger passes, including an errant toss by Jon Brittenum to come within one of the AFL one-game record.

Hadl's passes started going astray after a 28-yard field goal by Dennis Pardee put San Diego into a brief lead.

"They shocked us with three points, then we settled down and took control of the game—both on offense and defense," Stram said.

Goldie Sellers grabbed a Hadl pass after it hit another Chief and bounced off the hands of Charger Jacque MacKinnon. Dawson promptly put the Chiefs ahead to stay with a five-yard pass to Gloster Richardson. Then a Hadl pass hit end Gary Garrison's fingers and fell to Jim Kearney, setting up Dawson's seven-yard touchdown pass to Mike Garrett.

Sellers' second interception proceeded what Stram called the clinching score—a 68-yard pass from Dawson to Frank Pitts with five minutes left in the first half.

Besides the thefts of Sellers and Kearney, the Chiefs got two interceptions from Bobby Bell and one each by Johnny Robinson and Willie Lanier.

Lanier killed even the faintest of Charger hopes by picking off a Hadl pass deflected by Aaron Brown and racing 75 yards to the end zone late in the third quarter.

Ruin Rankings In College Cage

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA and North Carolina, in their travels toward a head-on clash to decide the No. 1 college basketball team in the country, are having quite an impact on their followers.

Pointing toward a meeting in the finals of the Holiday Festival in New York after Christmas, the Uclans and Tar Heels ruined the rankings of Kentucky, No. 3, Notre Dame, No. 5, and Ohio State, No. 13, last week.

The Bruins still have home dates with Minnesota and West Virginia Dec. 20-21 and the Tar Heels must get by 12th-ranked Vanderbilt tonight and Clemson and Virginia Dec. 16-17.

UCLA, 3-0, protected its No. 1 spot with a successful run through the midwest that gave the Bruins 19 straight victories and 66 in their last 67 games. The Bruins, after pulling away from Ohio State 84-73 Friday night, rode past Notre Dame 88-75 on Lew Alcindor's tall shoulders. Bringing UCLA from behind an early deficit, Alcindor hit 14 of 18 field goal tries and finished with 29 points.

North Carolina, 3-0, surprisingly had an easier time against Kentucky at Lexington with Charlie Scott's 19 points pacing a balanced attack that built a 19-point second half lead and eventually a 87-88 victory.

Other followers lost to unheralded teams, promising a shake-up in the Top Ten behind UCLA and North Carolina.

Kansas, No. 4, trounced Chicago Loyola 93-61, but not until the Jayhawks had been upset by Wisconsin 67-62 earlier in the week. Houston, No. 6 with Davidson, beat Pepperdine and Arizona before dropping a 65-64 decision at Southern California.

Davidson raised its stock with surprisingly easy 101-84 rout over Vanderbilt. New Mexico, No. 8, beat Hawaii 63-56 and 77-62 Friday and Saturday; Cincinnati, No. 9, crushed North Dakota State 83-54, and Villanova, No. 10, another entry in the Holiday Festival, bombed Philadelphia Textile 94-74.

Emo, LaBille Take Doubles Championship

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Jean Craig of Joplin and Intercounty Telephone Co. of Albany swept to championships in the final weekend of the 38th annual Missouri women's amateur bowling tournament.

Mrs. Craig's 703 handicap total was good for the Class B singles crown and Intercounty took the Class C team title with 2,765. No other major changes occurred as the last of 3,800 bowlers completed five weeks of tourney competition.

The Albany team, led by Imogene Osborn's 514 series, won the C division by a single pin, edging Bill & Bob's IGA of Marceline.

Other tourney champions include:

Singles — Class A Alice Jean Warger, Kansas City, 689; C. Judy Launius, St. Louis, 726.

Doubles — Class A, Helen Emo-Esther LaBille, Sedalia, 1,307; B, Shirley Whitaker-Betty Jarvis, St. Louis, 1,303; C, Cheryl Kimball-Phyllis Reith, Brookfield, 1,254.

Team — Class A, Dick Weber All-Pro Bowl, St. Louis, 2,850; B, Ray's Dairy Maid, Kansas City, 2,759.

All-events — JoAnn Civella, Kansas City, 1,801.

Player-Coach Gives Lesson In Winning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cliff Hagan is one of those basketball coaches who, instead of telling his team how to do things, shows them himself.

The player-coach of the Dallas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association gave a lesson Sunday night when he dropped in one of his famous hook shots and added three free throws in the last 40 seconds for a 114-110 victory over the Los Angeles Stars.

In the only other game, Denver held on for a 121-113 victory over Miami.

On Saturday night, Minnesota defeated New Orleans 98-91 and Oland blasted Miami 144-116.

In the National Basketball Association Sunday night, Cincinnati dropped the New York Knicks 120-115, Atlanta stomped Phoenix 121-99, Los Angeles smashed San Diego 132-118 and Philadelphia got by Milwaukee 122-117.

Hagan managed only seven points for the night while filing in after four Dallas starters fouled out in the foul-ridden game, but the final four made the difference.

John Beasley led the Chaps with 27 points and 11 rebounds while Merv Jackson had 23 for the Stars.

Denver, after frittering away a 15-point lead after one quarter, pulled away from a 85-84 lead after three periods as Larry Jones hit 29 points and Lonnie Wright 25. Don Freeman had 27 for Miami.

Jim Katacavage of the New York Giants is a 13-year veteran in the National Football League.

Ice for Camping Trips No Problem to Them

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Mrs. D. J. I. that my husband also freezes blocks of ice in our deep freeze to have ready for camping. He fills a pliable rubber or plastic dishpan to within an inch or so of the top and freezes it. Be sure to use a deep dishpan made of flexible plastic rather than the brittle kind. To remove the ice, turn the dishpan upside down in the sink and run a small amount of warm water over the bottom of the pan.—MRS. D. L. R.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I wish someone would tell me the best way to shorten men's trousers when the material has the new permanent press creases. When shortened and a cuff turned up, there is a reverse seam line. How can one avoid this?—MR. E. P. H.

packages, etc., can be put on top of the ice and not get wet.—MRS. W. A. G.

DEAR POLLY—We measured the size of our small ice box, allowed a few inches at the top and had a box made (at a sheet metal shop) that would fit into the freezer. We lay the container, full of ice, in the laundry tub, run water over it for a few minutes and the piece of ice comes out very easily and is then put in the icebox.—MRS. W. M. Rip Past Giant Defense For a St. Louis Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Until he gained 162 yards against the New York Giants Sunday, the most important thing that happened to Willis Crenshaw was winning the grand champion-

Promise KO In Heavy Title Bout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If both Joe Frazier and Oscar Bonavena are correct, then nobody's going to win their heavyweight championship fight Tuesday night.

Both boxers promised knockouts after breaking training camp Sunday—and if that's true, then only the referee will be left standing in the Spectrum arena.

Frazier, who broke training camp in Pleasantville, N.J., said he would "smoke out" Bonavena in about seven rounds.

"He's gonna go," said Frazier, undefeated in 21 pro fights, who is defending his five-state piece of the world heavyweight crown.

Bonavena, the bull-necked challenger from Buenos Aires, Argentina, said upon breaking camp at Camden, N.J., "I knocked him down twice before. Now I'm even stronger. I'm going to knock him out and take the title back to South America."

Bonavena has a 36-4 record with 27 knockouts.

Frazier, recognized as champion in Pennsylvania, New York, Maine, Massachusetts and Illinois in addition to Mexico and parts of the Orient, was rated 2-1 favorite Sunday.

The 15-rounder, which starts at 10:30 p.m. EST, will be telecast nationally, but the New York and Philadelphia area will be blacked out of home television. Promoter Lou Lucchese has guaranteed Frazier $100,000 and Bonavena $75,000.

ship in the Central States AAU judo competition in 1964.

Crenshaw, inspired by the 88 yards turned in last week by Cid Edwards, a St. Louis rookie, ripped through the Giants' defense for three touchdowns in a 28-21 St. Louis victory.

The running of the black belt judo expert was the fourth best in Cardinal history, but still short of the record of 203 set by John David Crow in 1960. Even this superb performance was not enough to save the Cards, who learned in the locker room that Cleveland had clinched the Century Division title in the National Football League.

"We sure were hoping Washington would beat them (Cleveland)," said Coach Charley Winner. "I kept watching the gosh-darned scoreboard and saying prayers."

The Browns led the Redskins 24-21 when the Cards-Giants game ended and that turned out to be the final score. St. Louis needed a Cleveland tie or loss to make next Saturday's game with the Browns a showdown for the division title.

"Normally the fullback just goes up the middle," said Crenshaw, who was drafted as a linebacker out of Kansas State five years ago. "This year we put in some new stuff that lets the fullback run the ends. I sure like to run the ends."

Crenshaw ran the ends for 66 yards in one of his touchdowns runs against the Giants. The others both came from two yards out.

"I stopped lifting weights this year," said Crenshaw, and took off 20 pounds. The weights were supposed to make me stronger, but I found they were tightening me up too much. Red Miller, our line coach, has been helping me get off the ball quicker. I took up fencing this year, too. I think it helps my agility."

Fran Tarkenton hit a season high with 326 yards on 16 completions in 29 passes. He hit Homer Jones for 73 and Joe Morrison for 68 on scoring plays.

The Cards broke a 21-21 tie at 7:23 of the final period after Lonnie Sanders came up with the ball on an interception of a Tarkenton pass to Jones.

"I had it once, lost it, had it again and then that man Sanders had it," said Jones. The crowd of 62,907 groaned again in the final minutes when Homer was unable to hold onto two passes by Tarkenton in Card territory.

Chiefs Tounce Chargers Out of AFL Division Race

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
Ever tried to throw a football over a 10-story building and know where it's going? Quarterback John Hadl of the San Diego Chargers had a similar problem—throwing over the hulking, hard-charging Kansas City defensive line.

"Those guys 6-foot-7 look 100 feet tall when you try and throw over them," Hadl said Sunday. Hadl managed to get the ball over them most of the time, but on six occasions it went into the hands of Kansas City players as the Chiefs tounded San Diego 40-3 and knocked the Chargers out of the Western Division race in the American Football League.

The victory kept the Chiefs, 11-2, in a first-place tie with the Oakland Raiders, who edged Denver 33-27. Kansas City is at Denver and Oakland at San Diego next weekend, and if both win, a playoff will be held in Oakland.

In other AFL action Sunday, the New York Jets, 10-3 and the Eastern Division champions, downed Cincinnati 3-11, 27-14 and Miami 5-7-1, blasted Boston 4-9, 38-7. Saturday, Houston, 6-7, ripped Buffalo 1-12-1, 35-6.

Take Top Prize In TWA Bowling

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jean Havlish, of St. Paul, Minn., took the $2,000 top prize in the $15,000 TWA Women's Open Professional bowling tournament Sunday after finishing fifth in the qualifying rounds.

Dotty Fothergill, North Attleboro, Mass., took second place with 1,350; Judith Nichol, Des Moines, third and $950; Millie Martorella, Rochester, N.Y., fourth and $850; Doris Coburn, Buffalo, N.Y., fifth and $750.

Miss Havlish disposed of Mrs. Coburn, the only other righthander in the finals, 176-164, then she put down the three lefthanders — Mrs. Martorella, 173-172; Mrs. Nichol, 216-170, and Miss Fothergill, 175-168 in the title match.

Golf
SCOTTSDALE, Ariz.—Howell Fraser, 28-year-old teaching pro from West Caldwell, N.J., fired a three-under-par 69 and won the PGA's first Club Pro Golf Championship with a 15-under-par 272, four strokes better than Chuck Malchaski and Bob Rosburg.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand — Bob Charles of New Zealand shot a record-breaking nine-under-par 62 final round for a 54-hole total of 197 to win the Cal-tex New Zealand Tournament by 10 strokes over Australians Randall Vines and Tony Mangan.

The first U.S. flag carrying 50 stars was raised at Independence Hall Philadelphia, July 4, 1960.

Despite the NFL edict that all injuries must be reported, the New York Giants haven't been completely above board in their handling of the Fran Tarkenton situation. He actually had a shoulder separation that was never publicized. The plucky quarterback has been shot with at least 10 long needles in recent weeks to keep him in the Giant lineup—before there was any hint he was physically hampered.

What author Dick Schapp did for Green Bay's Jerry Kramer, in transcribing his diary of a season into a book click, "Instant Replay," he's about to do for Frank B. Ard. He'll dialogue Frank's travails and travels on the golf circuit for a book next year.

Can you imagine a receiving corps featuring Lance Alworth and Homer Jones on opposite ends of the line driving deep secondaries frantic with the threat of the "bomb"? It could have happened. The San Diego Chargers actually drafted Homer from Texas Southern the same year they nabbed Lance out of Arkansas. But the Jones pick was nullified because he still had college eligibility left. He was grabbed a year later by Houston and eventually released to the New York Giants.

Little bit of racial friction building up on one of baseball's great teams between a couple of star members of the pitching staff—one's white, one's black, and they don't see eye-to-eye.

Joe Namath doesn't do anything to rub out his image as a flower child. Came into a restaurant on one road trip wearing a fuchsia sport coat and carrying a potted geranium. "You have Cokes?" he asked the waitress. "To take out?" She nodded agreement. "O.K.," said Broadway Joe, "give me a 7-Up to go."

One vet NFL quarterback says the Giants have the worst defensive unit he's ever seen. Crimps their style as a title contender.

One of the biggest feuds of the Summer(?) Olympics in Mexico City, which got little airing, was between the Kenya delegation and the American press. The Kenyans were still hot, when they arrived there, about a Sports Illustrated article which was critical of the firing of John Velzian, their white coach, last spring. Head of the delegation refused to let U.S. journalists see any of their track stars before the Games. Compounded the refusal by saying, "Why do you want to talk to a boy of lower intelligence?" thereby demeaning that country's own runners.

Among foreign grapplers, the mark of a distinction is a tin car. Don't think we spotted a single Iranian competitor who didn't have cauliflower-sculptured ears.

Olga Fikotova Connolly's account of her flight from behind the Iron Curtain, via her Olympic achievements and meeting with Harold Connolly, was scheduled to go on sale in her native Czechoslovakia early this fall (title: "Rings of Glory"). But the Russian invasion of her homeland knocked the book off the shelves. So Olga brought a supply to Mexico City, gave books to the Russian contingent; they said they enjoyed the contents and promised they'd help put it on sale in Russia. "That," said skeptical husband Harold, "I'll have to see."

Clifton McNeil, the latest Grambling grad to make an impact with the football pros, as the NFL's leading pass grabber, complains, "The press has built up Grambling as a Dogpatch-type place. It's a fine educational institution. Some day, I'd like to see a TV special on its learning tradition rather than its sports achievements."

Between you'n'me, the truth is out about Mickey Lolich's World Series success. It was due to his wife's head and back rubs the night before each game he started. "Head rubs," said Joyce Lolich, "are his favorites."

Standings In Big 8 Cage Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colorado and Iowa State, tabbed as darkhorse contenders in the 1969 Big Eight Conference basketball race, may soon become racehorse contenders.

The Buffaloes and Cyclones both stand 4-0 at this early stage of the young game season.

Colorado whipped Texas at Austin, Tex., 73-64, while Iowa State bombed outclassed South Dakota State, 94-61, at Ames, Iowa, Saturday night to maintain their perfect marks.

Only other unbeaten Big Eight team is Oklahoma State, which has played only one game but swings back into action tonight against South Dakota State in Stillwater, Okla.

Other games tonight have Xavier at Kansas, Indiana at Kansas State, San Fernando, Calif., State at Iowa State, Colorado at Northwestern and Texas Tech at Oklahoma.

Kansas rebounded from its loss to Wisconsin—which most certainly will cost the Jayhawk their No. 4 ranking in the Associated Press poll this week—by whipping Loyola of Chicago, 93-61, while Nebraska defeated Oregon, 85-77.

Losing Saturday were Kansas State, a 66-63 victim of Tulsa, and Missouri, which bowed 58-51 to Indiana.

The 4-2 reading Saturday gave the Big Eight a 16-7 over-all record for the season against outside opposition.

Glass Is Important In Check

A vehicle presented for inspection under the State's Motor Vehicle Inspection Law will have its glass checked by the inspector-mechanic.

All motor vehicles manufactured after January 1, 1936, must be equipped with approved safety glass. Some of the causes for rejection of glass are as follows: Any glass not of an approved type; Glass at any location that is broken if a sharp edge is exposed; Glass that cannot be raised or lowered in the left front door which would prohibit giving a hand and arm signal. This requirement may be waived on vehicles equipped with properly operating turn signals and stop lights; When any door or window glass has been removed and replaced with non-transparent material which obstructs the driver's vision; Any modification to the originally approved safety glass which changes the light transmission, such as painted or sprayed-on plastics; Any scratch, scratches, distortion, discoloration or crack on the windshield or other glass that substantially interferes with the driver's vision; And when any crack or cracks weakens any glass so that one piece may be moved in relation to the other.

The inspector-mechanic will also check a vehicle's air pollution control devices, if it is so equipped. This will include a check of the positive crankcase valve on all 1963 and subsequent model year vehicles equipped by the manufacturer, and the plumbing and connection on all 1968 and subsequent model year passenger vehicles must be properly connected as installed by the manufacturer and free of obstructions and leakage.

In Ranks

Army Private Jack Todd Jr., 23, whose parents live on Route 1, Otterville, was assigned as a fire direction center chart operator with the 6th Battalion, 1st Artillery at Ft. Campbell, Ky., Nov. 22.

His wife, Virginia, lives near Pittsburg, Mo.

Airman David J. Holst, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Holst, Versailles, has been graduated at Sheppard AFB, Tex., from a training course for U.S. Air Force jet aircraft mechanics.

Airman Holst, a graduate of Morgan County High School, is being assigned to Cannon AFB, N.M., for duty.

Technical Sergeant Thomas S. DeWeese, son of Mrs. Fern G. DeWeese, Windsor, was recently congratulated upon receiving the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Las Vegas, Nev.

Sgt. DeWeese was decorated for outstanding achievement as a supply inventory supervisor with a detachment of the 1800th Support Squadron at Las Vegas. The sergeant is a graduate of Windsor High School and attended Central Missouri State College.

BUSINESS NEWS

KANSAS CITY — A second contract with Rival Manufacturing Co. to hire 125 hard-core unemployed workers has been announced by Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz.

The earlier pact, one of the first in the nation under the Job Opportunities in the Business Sector (JOBS) program, also called for hiring 125 workers.

JOBS is a joint effort of the Labor Department and the National Alliance of Businessmen to find jobs for 500,000 disadvantaged persons in the 50 largest cities by June 1971.

After 23 weeks of training on the job, the workers to be hired by Rival will become production assemblers, with a starting wage of $1.82 an hour, in permanent, full-time jobs.

The Labor Department will allocate up to $271,500 in payments to Rival over the two-year life of the contract. This is to reimburse the company for the additional costs of the supportive services needed to make productive workers of the hard-core unemployed.

WARSAW — The Mid-West Truckers Association has announced that Harry's Auto Service here has been franchised as an authorized towing and service center for Warsaw and surrounding area.

Come see the beautiful Dress-A-Dolls on display in our lobby.

A host of lovely and imaginative dolls similar to these are on display in our bank now. Come and see them soon, and bring the youngsters.

Our thanks to so many of you who designed the costumes for dolls entered in our Dress-A-Doll Contest. These dolls are now on display in our lobby, and we invite everyone to come and see them. We guarantee you will be thrilled when you see these dolls, knowing that each one will be given to some very deserving child at Christmas.

You will see colorful costumes in traditional or nationality design. Other costumes portray knit, crochet, and fancy dress ensembles. There is a special category for dolls entered by children under 15. You will see them all, including many prize winners, each one an original costume. The combined colors, the pattern of all the dolls on display is breathtaking. You will want to bring your family.

The dolls will remain on display until December 20. During this period our bank will be open from 9 to 3 Monday through Friday.

Do plan to come in and see these beautiful dolls. To make your visit a real break in the day, we will serve refreshments during banking hours.
